

Textured cylinder-liner surface

The surface micro-geometry has a major influence on the cylinder-liner / piston-ring contact performance: oil consumption, friction and wear.

The project aims at optimizing this micro-geometry as a function of the operating conditions. The micro-geometry identification from measurements is one aspect.

References:

Piston ring load carrying capacity: influence of cross-hatching parameters.

Bouassida H., Biboulet N., Sainsot P. and Lubrecht A.A.

Proceeding of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers Part J - Journal of Engineering Tribology, DOI:10.1177/1350650114522779, Vol. 228, p 642–648, 2014.

Determination of fundamental parameters for the cross-hatched cylinder liner micro-geometry

Biboulet N., Bouassida H., Cavoret J. and Lubrecht A.A.

Proceeding of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers Part J - Journal of Engineering Tribology, DOI: 10.1177/1350650114548202, 2014.

Cross hatched texture influence on the load carrying capacity of oil control rings.

Biboulet N., Bouassida H. and Lubrecht A.A.

Tribology International, DOI: 10.1016/j.triboint.2014.09.024, 2014.